

I am appalled at the thought of further deregulation. The bland, homogenized news and music that is currently broadcast will only continue, and probably get worse. If anything, MORE regulation regarding the number of media outlets owned by one company in any one market is needed. The American people deserve better than this.